Instructions:

- 1 Keep a record of any relaxation technique or activity you undertake during any of the following periods within a 7 day diary.
2. Record how effective each technique/activity was by rating it on a scale of 1 to 10 (1 = not affective to 10 = highly effective).
3. Think about activities you could try that have helped you feel more relaxed and in control in the past - try these again.
4. Have a go experimenting - try some activities you have not tried before and monitor your results
5. Take some gentle exercise - go for a walk, walk up and down stairs, stretch and relax - always undertake physical exercise under medical guidance if you have any concerns about your physical health.
6. PRACTICE! PRACTICE! PRACTICE!

This will help you to get into the habit of practicing relaxation and identify which techniques/activities are most effective for you.
